1. SUBJECT DESCRIPTION

The course has the following objectives:

- The first is to provide students with a solid factual knowledge of the main periods and events that make the history of international relations since the beginning of early modern times in the 16th Century.

- In this complex fabric of events, we will try to identify two basic threads: the most important players in the international arena (kings, prime ministers, foreign secretaries, ambassadors …) and the motives that prompted the peoples they represented to follow their lead (dynastic loyalty, religious zeal, nationalism…).

- While trying to build this framework, we will also discuss the evolution of the ways of thinking about the relations among nations, starting with the universal polity of the Middle Ages, its breaking-up, and its replacement with the international community, governed by international law and the principle of balance of power. We will then study different forms of international governance, like the Allies in the Napoleonic wars, and the collective security under the League of Nations.

- Finally, the learning of the “words” of international relations (events, doctrines) will be accompanied by the listening to their “music”: we will examine some of the main characters in diplomatic history and will try to re-create the very special atmospheres they worked in.

4. EVALUATION SYSTEM

4.1. GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

Class sessions will include lecture and discussion. Students’ evaluation will be made upon performance on a mid-term examination (40%) and a final examination (45%) and class participation (15%). The examination, which is an important part of the learning process, will be open-book and will consist of carefully thought-out essay questions.

Texts accompanied by questions will be handed out a few days before most sessions. Working groups should prepare a written answer to the questions and be ready to present it in class. Answers in writing should not exceed ten lines.
Students must fulfill the following requirements as part of the course:

1) Complete over the course of the semester all the required written assignments and write both a mid-term and a final exam.
2) Engage and be prepared to discuss in class the core ideas and readings of the course. This requires that students complete all reading ahead of class and be attentive to critical concepts and other ideas that are contained in all the course material.

4.2. EVALUATION AND WEIGHTING CRITERIA

The breakdown of the final grade is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Component</th>
<th>Percentage</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Mid-term exam</td>
<td>40%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Final exam</td>
<td>45%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Participation</td>
<td>15%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

4.3. EXAMINATION POLICY

1) Students have up to 4 examination sessions per course over two consecutive academic years.

2) IE University has a mandatory Class Attendance Policy that calls for students to attend a minimum of 70% of class sessions in a course. An absence, for any reason, counts towards the maximum of 30% allowed absences. Failure to comply with any of these requirements will result in students being ineligible to sit for the exam in both the 1st and 2nd examination sessions. These students will be required to sit for the exam in the 3rd session.

3) Grading for make-up exams will be subject to the following rules:
   - Students who failed the course in the first round of exams will be eligible to re-sit in the 2nd examination session. Warning: students who do not comply with the attendance policy requirements will be required to sit for the exam in the 3rd examination session.
   - The highest grade that a student may earn in the 2nd examination session is 8.

4.4. EXTRAORDINARY EVALUATION

In the event that you do not satisfy the requirements to pass the class, you will have the option to take an extraordinary supplemental exam. This extraordinary exam may be complemented and/or replaced by additional supplemental assignments as part of your overall evaluation. Dispensation for the inclusion of additional evaluation criteria in the event of an unsatisfactory grade will be made solely at the discretion of your professor. In accordance with university policy, extraordinary exams must without exception be taken in Segovia during the extraordinary exam period.
